

--MEDIA ALERT--*TARMIN TECHNOLOGIES TO PRESENT ON REDUCING STORAGE COSTS AND IMPROVING EFFICIENCY IN TOUGH ECONOMIC TIMES

Eric Herzog to Present at Storage Networking World Conference

Orlando, Fla. (April 2, 2009) — Tarmin Technologies' Eric Herzog will speak at next week's Storage Networking World on reducing costs and improving the efficiencies of storage deployments. The tough economy has led to slashed or frozen IT budgets, driving IT teams to reevaluate their existing storage environments to optimize their usage. Herzog will discuss how improving efficiency and storage optimization through active archiving can save costs, improve performance, and insure compliance.

WHO: Eric Herzog, vice president of marketing and sales for Tarmin Technologies, leader in active archive and life cycle management software for secondary storage

WHAT: Discussion on reducing storage costs, improving efficiency in tough economic times

WHEN: Tuesday, April 7, 4:55 – 5:40 p.m.

WHERE: Suwanee 13 Ballroom/Conference Room
Storage Networking World Conference - Orlando, Florida
Rosen Shingle Creek Resort

"Storage managers are facing seemingly insurmountable challenges this year," said Herzog. "Capacity requirements haven't decreased. Government requirements for data retention have not gone away. The employees the storage serves have not lessened their demands. In our session we will discuss techniques to continue to meet these demands on a reduced budget."
